Henry Ford in Letter Read at Conference Gives Support to Amendment

ATLANTA CITY, N. J., May 17. (UPI)—The Methodist Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals flung a challenge of war today against either party which puts a wet plank in its platform or nominates a candidate who assaults the dry law.

Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the board, addressed a huge rally here last night, telling the Methodists we are "going to elect a president and vice president for a Christian Republic and for a prohibition nation."

"We are willing," Wilson declared, "to have this done and keep absolutely out of politics, but if a wet candidate is put up, we will consider that a declaration of war against us and our ideals and we will give battle on all fronts."

Dr. Wilson read a letter from Henry Ford before launching his declaration of war policy. Ford said in part:

"I give unreserved support to the eighteenth amendment and the prohibition law because they provide the degree of control over liquor which is necessary for national sobriety. * * * We have always had excellent official cooperation in its enforcement."

The presidential election in 1928 was the best referendum that ever could be devised, Wilson said. He cited the 7,000,000 plurality for President Hoover as a "demonstration that loyal, law-abiding Americans still are in the ascendancy in this Republic."

The speaker announced "loose

Gets Divorce After 50 Wedded Years

RENO, Nev., May 17. (INS)—A romance that bloomed in the sunny south in January more than a half century ago had withered today as part of the grist of the Reno six weeks divorce mill.

Joseph E. Walker of San Francisco filed suit to divorce Mary Etta Walker. They were married in Perry county, near Montgomery, Alabama, in 1881, and celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last year.

Walker charged they had been separated more than five years. Mrs. Walker resides in Newbern, Ala.

Capt. Owen credited Capt. Vlach of the Georges Phillipar with the estimate of at least 100 lost. Many first class passengers were reported trapped in their cabins by fire.

"Approaching the Georges Phillipar we found a few hundred people grouped on the forecastle head," Capt. Owen reported. "We lowered two boats and took off 75 passengers. The fire is believed to have originated from a short circuit in an empty cabin."

"The wireless room and the captain's quarters were said to have been destroyed first. The fire travelled rapidly through all staterooms fanned by a fresh breeze. My officers on the second journey reported that the French captain was the last to leave and that nobody was left aboard," Capt. Owen reported.

"Our boats saved some of the crew and passengers hanging over the bow on ropes. Many jumped into the sea.

"By 8 a. m. the steamer was burning furiously fore and aft from the water's edge. Many passengers were slightly burned. Wives were separated from husbands and children from parents.

"All the passengers rescued were in night attire. They lost everything else. We are due at Aden today."

All other officers who have served but two years were re-elected.

100 Persons Are Missing From Liner

Report Many First Class Passengers Trapped in Cabins By Fire

LONDON, May 17. (UPI)—At least 100 persons are missing from the liner Georges Phillipar, according to a wireless message to the Evening Standard from Capt. Owen of the British ship Contractor, which rescued 75 of the liner's passengers.

Capt. Owen credited Capt. Vlach of the Georges Phillipar with the estimate of at least 100 lost. Many first class passengers were reported trapped in their cabins by fire.

ADEN, Arabia, May 17. (UPI)—Rescue ships bearing survivors with their harrowing tales of a desperate fight against fire at sea on the abandoned French liner, Georges Phillipar, were expected here today.

More than 600 passengers were saved, including many women and children. The total of passengers was 1,000.

DIRIGIBLE AKRON WILL MOOR TO SHIP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (UPI)—The big navy dirigible Akron today was to attempt to moor to the mast of her tender, the Patoka, at her anchorage in San Francisco bay today.

Plans announced by Read Admiral W. C. Cole, commandant of the 12th naval district, called for her to leave her Sunnyvale base at 6 p. m. and connect with the Patoka's mast, there to remain overnight.

She was to cast off Wednesday in time to be at Bakersfield, Calif., at 8 a. m., after which she was to fly over various inland towns and return to Sunnyvale for the night.

The decision was made by the resolutions committee of the Democratic state convention which also voted to enforce the unit rule for the Kansas delegation.

SENATORIAL CANDIDATE IN IOWA URGES CHICKEN STEW TO 'BROOKHART BALONEY'

DES MOINES, Ia., May 17. (UPI)—Chicken stew became the issue in Iowa's Republican senatorial race today, superseding the questions of tax relief, disposal of agricultural surpluses, and nepotism in congressional halls.

With the stew, which will be served to all comers by Henry Field, one of the candidates, at his home in Shenandoah, May 26-28, there will be an old fashioned political rally, complete with flag-waving and a torch-light parade.

It all came about when Field, announcing his candidacy, invited his "old friend," Sen. Smith W. Brookhart, to speak over the Field radio station and join "with Mrs. Field and me in a chicken stew at the cottage."

By way of retaliation, Sen. Brookhart suggested in a political speech that "if you want chicken stew, vote for Henry Field."

Field retorted the same day: "Better chicken stew than the same old Brookhart baloney."

In order to give his reply real meaning, Field announced the rally at which he will serve "liberal portions" of his campaign dish to all who care to take it at "the cottage."

He will represent the second ward, in the northeast section of the city, where he lives, at 1814 Spurgeon street.

Penn's election came about just after the council meeting opened, without argument, hurrays or other accompaniments generally seen when a new councilman takes office.

After the minutes of the previous meeting were disposed of, J. L. McBride, councilman, moved that Penn be elected. His motion was seconded by Councilman E. G. Warner and the board voted unanimously in favor of the motion.

Penn, who was present at the meeting was then called to the desk of Ed Vogely, city clerk, where he was sworn into office. Then he took his seat at the board and aided in the transaction of the night's business.

The whole program had apparently been prearranged, it moved off so smoothly, indicating perfect harmony on the board in the selection of the new council member. It was understood that Penn was heavily backed by business men and others throughout the city for the appointment, while it is definitely known that the American Legion played a strong part in placing him in office.

Penn, a resident of the city for many years, is employed with the county welfare department.

Penn's acceptance of the position as councilman caused him to automatically resign as commander of the Santa Ana post of the Legion, in accordance with the constitution of the Legion.

Announcement was made today that a meeting of the executive

NEGOTIATOR IN KIDNAPER CASE ADMITS HOAX

Curtis was taken by authorities to check up on the fantastic story he had told. He "partially" identified fugitives gallery pictures of his "contacts." But early today he confessed he had told what was not true.

"Shortly after the kidnaping Mr. Curtis told a story about having a conference with the kidnappers," the police statement said. "A newspaper representative, according to Mr. Curtis' statement, made a very lucrative offer for his story to be given exclusively to that paper."

"Also according to Mr. Curtis' statement, a very lucrative offer was made by another newspaper and film company for pictures concerning his activity."

"This stirred Mr. Curtis on to greater activities. Mr. Curtis also said that Dean Peacock could have prevented his unfortunate part in this enormous deception."

"Admiral Burrage merely presented to Colonel Lindbergh the story as he had heard it, making no recommendations but permitting it to stand upon its merits."

Two Drawn In

Into his complex bid for notoriety and money, Curtis originally drew two reputable citizens of Norfolk, the Very Rev. Dean H. Dobson-Peacock, rector of Christ church, and Rear Admiral Guy M. Burrage, U. S. N., retired, whom he impressed with the sincerity of his negotiations.

Both Dr. Dobson-Peacock and Admiral Burrage were convinced Curtis was on the trail of the kidnappers, and throughout the "negotiations" were confident the baby would be returned.

Finding of the body last Thursday shocked the two innocent parties to the hoax, but they still believed the "negotiators" were actually the Lindbergh abductors.

"Reputable citizens," the statement continued, "and officials frequently vouched to Colonel Lindbergh for the integrity of Mr. Curtis, stating that his word could be relied upon. This made the deception so much easier. (He had been a Norfolk shipbuilder prominent in the community.) Recently his business was reported not so profitable."

The story of Mr. Curtis has resulted in the very widespread activity of the Coast Guard and other federal agencies in seeking the fictitious boat he has described.

Fictitious Clue

"It has further resulted in many official airplane trips, auto trips as well as keeping Colonel Lindbergh away from his home and activities during the most important phases of this case in pursuit of fictitious clues."

"Four days ago when Mr. Curtis came to police headquarters the police authorities at this point started questioning him and checking his story. The result of the check on his story and the questioning of Mr. Curtis was terminated at 4 o'clock this morning with his complete confession that all the information he had given was the result of his imagination and deception as well as his desire to make a good newspaper story, that would bring lucrative returns and that there was no fact."

HONOLULU, T. H., May 17. (UPI)—Governor Lawrence M. Judd will not pardon the four American honor slayers of Joe Kahahawai, half-caste islander, he indicated in a statement to the United Press today.

Asked whether he still contemplated pardoning the Americans the governor revealed that he had sent to Secretary of the Interior Ray Lyman Wilbur a written explanation of why he commuted sentences of the accused, instead of pardoning them.

U. S. CHAMBER OF COMMERCE MEETS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17. (UPI)—General sessions of the United States Chamber of Commerce, in session here, were to open tonight with what observers expected would be a demand for reduction of federal bureaus and governmental expenditures.

Silas H. Strawn, Chicago, president of the chamber, known to be a bitter foe of high surtaxes on incomes, now pending before Congress, was to open the meeting.

It was believed his keynote address would ask the chamber to go on record as demanding decreases in expenses to balance the federal budget, rather than increased tax levies.

ter of Justice when a Korean threw a bomb at Emperor Hirohito on January 8 and Home Minister Nakahashi, in charge of the Tokyo metropolitan police. He traditionally was responsible for the emperor's safety, so was forced to resign.

Both Dr. Suzuki and Minister of Railways Tokonami wanted to succeed to the post of home minister and an internal squabble developed within the government.

According to the rank of Japanese politics, the home minister would succeed Inukai as leader of the party and would become premier in the next selenyukai cabinet.

Inukai favored Suzuki and was reported to have promised him the portfolio. The appointment was even announced in the Tokyo newspapers, but was withdrawn before the Tokonami faction's opposition and Premier Inukai himself held the home ministry during the diet session. Finally a compromise was arranged. Dr. Suzuki became home minister, and Tokonami was placated by being made vice president of the party, continuing as minister of railways.

The quarrel over who would be in line to succeed Inukai was greatly publicized. It weakened the confidence of the public in the party and the cabinet. With the two disputants ranking as president and vice president of the party, it was feared their quarrel might break out again and disrupt the stability of the selenyukai.

Japan was calm today after the brutal execution of 77-year-old Premier Inukai although troops remained on guard at government buildings, banks, and the homes of prominent Japanese.

THREE KILLED AS MAIL PLANE FALLS, BLAZES

Johnston and Christensen were employees of Pacific Air Transport "dead-heading" from San Diego to Los Angeles in Crandall's ship.

Cause of the accident had not been determined today. Witnesses said the plane was descending for a landing when at a height of 100 feet it was seen to "slip off" and crash. There was no motor trouble, they said.

Two men whose names were not learned, residents near the scene of the crash, were first to reach the wreckage. As flames enveloped the ship, they pulled Crandall from his seat but were beaten back before they could reach Christensen and Johnston.

The ship fell the distance of a city block from the airport. It was due at 11:40 p. m. and was a few minutes ahead of schedule, airport officials said. There was a slight fire over the ground but not sufficient to obscure the airport, according to L. O. Kennedy, traffic manager at the port.

Crandall leaves a widow in San Diego. The other men were not married.

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT

Have you known the anguish of days when you craved for the night, that forgetful sleep might come, and of nights when you feared the dawn, although in your soul was an overweening prayer for the coming of the dawn?

Such is the lot of every heart which has loved and lost a while.

Reach out from the depths of your own sorrow and endeavor to give to others who suffer, the conviction which sustains you, that life is eternal and death is immortal. Your effort to cheer and to inspire your friends will uplift and embolden your own soul.

"Life is real and life is earnest and the grave is not its goal." Up and on to complete the race which you run!

COUNTY LIONS PLANNING TOUR FOR VISITORS

Hundreds of eastern tourists, delegates to the International Lions club convention to be held in Los Angeles in July, will be brought on a sight-seeing trip through Orange county, according to plans mapped last night at a meeting of the Orange County Council of Lions clubs, held at Kestner's cafe.

The subject was introduced by Mike Hogue, of Brea, who explained the afternoons of the convention will be free for sight-seeing purposes, and he thought a sight-seeing caravan through Orange county would be most suitable, as a means of hospitality to Eastern visitors, some of whom will undoubtedly be looking for opportunities to locate in Southern California.

The device is hailed as the answer to the problem of how to get reluctant passengers to climb overboard when a pilot decides that the ship cannot get down safely.

The decision to 'chute groundward lies entirely with the pilot, for when the control lever to the machinery is pulled the passenger can do nothing but sit tight, swing out and ride a parachute to the ground.

The parachutes are attached to the bottom of the ship with shrouds running to the seats. The failing seats and passengers pull the 'chutes loose. The silken lobes open instantly and the passengers float earthward still in the chairs in which they reclined a few seconds earlier in the cabin.

Although the details of the mechanics of his device are being guarded by Trusty, he pointed out that a series of drums, under power of the pilot's lever, furnish the necessary moving force to get the plane load of passengers overboard.

He plans to offer a public demonstration of the robot 'chute equipment within the next few days over Los Angeles Municipal Airport, it is said.

The committee appointed to arrange for such a tour as suggested was announced by President Raymond Thompson of the county council as follows: Burl Wing, Orange county, chairman; Mike Hogue, Brea; A. P. M. Brown, Anaheim; Bill Gilmore, Fullerton; L. McDonald, Laguna Beach; Charley Lake, Garden Grove; C. E. Stewart, Santa Ana, and Spike Spicer, Costa Mesa.

New Council Officers

Officers for the Orange county council were chosen at last night's gathering and will take their places at the next meeting to be held in June. They include, Ivan Swanger of the Orange club, president; Carl Houghtaling of Brea, vice president; Jack Lamport of Orange, secretary-treasurer.

Homey Chaney announced a further elimination in the five-minute speaker contest will be held at Fullerton next Monday evening, in connection with the Fullerton club's meeting at McFarland's cafe, starting at 7 o'clock. Ivan Swanger, winner of the Orange county contest, will represent this district, competing against winners of the Riverside and Pomona valley contests.

A recent speech by Jack Riley, president of the Orange county council meeting was arranged by Trusty, he pointed out that a series of drums, under power of the pilot's lever, furnish the necessary moving force to get the plane load of passengers overboard.

E. W. of St. Louis; George W. of Iowa, and W. C. W. of San Diego, and a sister, Ellen Hart, of Hot Springs, Ark.

KING TELLS OF PLATFORM FOR CONGRESS RACE

Declaring that bank deposits must be made safe; international bankers must cease swindling the people; governments—national, state, county and city—must learn to live within a fair income; industry and agriculture must receive a large share of the dollar each earns; there must be a job for every man able to work, so that his family shall be fed and clothed and housed and his children schooled; that crime must stop if the government is to survive and making a full statement regarding his platform, Lyman M. King, Redlands publisher, today made public his views on public matters in formally announcing his candidacy for the Republican nomination for representative in Congress for the nineteenth California district.

When the eighteenth amendment to the Constitution was submitted to the California legislature, King voted for it and is still of the same mind and will give the fullest and most cordial cooperation to any legislation designed to bring a larger degree of enforcement than we now have, the statement declares.

King was a member of the California state Senate for eight years and was with the department of finance of this state for four years. He specialized in revenue and taxation matters.

Following are high lights of the statement: "There are many problems facing this country, some of which must be solved by Congress. Our economic ills cannot be cured by laws, but at the same time the development of the nation has been so rapid, and the artificial situation created by the World War so burdensome, there is need for action. If war should come again, wealth and industry must be drafted as well as manhood.

Finance and Banking
"The failure of financial institutions in which people deposit money for safe keeping has become not only a national scandal, but a source of much distress. Savings of a lifetime have been wiped out in institutions licensed by the nation or state. We have many strong banks, but if we are to keep people from hoarding money, all banks must be made safe or a sharp line must be drawn so the depositor will know what is safe and what is not. A needed reform in California banking circles is a tightening up on the approval of bonds eligible for purchase by savings banks.

"The lack of elasticity in the banking system is an evil which cries loud for correction. Legitimate industry is hampered by its inability to find working capital. Ample security fails to secure loans to start the wheels of industry or relieve the unemployment situation. Local banks must preserve too high a degree of liquidity. The federal reserve bank system has failed to save banks or provide relief in the emergency. We need an amendment which will liquidify some forms of security now of the frozen type.

"The sale of foreign bonds in this country resulting in immense losses to investors who can ill afford them, is another national scandal. The people must be protected.

Crime and Unemployment
"The appalling influence of the underworld, evinced so recently by the kidnaping and murder of the Lindbergh baby, brings consternation to the people. If the government is to survive this must end. Gangsterism must be exterminated. The Congress should take a lead in this work. An aroused and determined citizenry will support the movement.

"Unemployment is the most distressing problem of the day. There is a maladjustment of economic forces when men who are able and want to work cannot; when the country is full of food and yet men are hungry; when there is plenty of gold and not enough money to carry on business. The people's representative should work unceasingly to correct this situation. I believe in the five-day week and, if necessary, a shorter day for labor, that more people may be employed.

"There is need of constant vigilance so that the citrus and other industries here can be protected against the machinations of eastern importers of fruit who have never hesitated to employ means to tear down the market. The fruit must be protected against imported pests.

Tariff and Economy
"I believe in the general principles of protective tariff, with a certain elasticity of rates through permission of high authority. We should have a tariff on fuel oil.

"No nation can command respect which does not promptly balance its budget. One way of doing this is by working out every conceivable economy in government. The cost of government to the American people is appalling. We have come to a point where property is being confiscated through taxation, which is dangerous. We should take warning before the unrest sure to follow becomes impossible to cure.

"There is no question of wider or more practical importance than the water problem. There is no problem upon which our prosperity so depends than the conservation of our forests and water resources.

"This district has considerable sea coast and a harbor at Newport which the national government should foster and help grow. The Indian school at Riverside has its claim upon the time of the representative of this district."

Sulphonated oil is recommended by the University of Wisconsin as a protection against the damage of trees and shrubs by rats and mice.

TRUCK DRIVER IS SUED FOR DAMAGES

A. W. Purdy, operator of the Purdy Express of Fullerton was named defendant in a suit filed in superior court demanding judgment for $10,500 for injuries received when his truck is alleged to have struck a child at a street intersection in Fullerton.

The suit was filed on behalf of Carl Shipley, the injured child, through his father, Elroy W. Shipley, and also asked damages for the elder Shipley.

According to the complaint the Shipley child was struck by the truck driven by Purdy at the intersection of Pomona and Walnut streets in Fullerton on April 22. His right foot was broken, the left foot injured, the child's spine and back were wrenched and other bruises and injuries were inflicted according to the charge. The action is demanding $10,000 personal injuries to the child and an additional $500 for doctor and hospital bills and medical fees incurred by the father as a result of the child's injuries.

CONFIDENCE IS URGED AS CURE FOR DEPRESSION

Emphasizing his belief that there is very little wrong with our country or with the economic and governmental set-up that could not and cannot be cured by a revival of confidence, Bud Gearhardt, past department commander of the American Legion, speaking on the Bank of America's "Back to Good Times" program, asked his radio audience Saturday evening, to preach confidence, denounce fear, promote faith and condemn timidity.

The trouble is that hundreds of thousands of us, true and loyal Americans that we are, are so overwhelmed with fear that we will not risk five cents worth of faith on an investment which would, with certainty, bring us an enormous return, not only in dollars, but in our national well being," said Gearhardt.

"Faith and confidence alone will start the people who have money to spending that money on things that they need. The resumption of normal spending will bring the resumption of normal business conditions. The resumption of normal buying will start the wheels in idle factories turning again and start the flow of that stream of dollars which is so essential to normal business activity."

"With confidence restored, conditions will soon return to normal, then the problem of unemployment will solve itself. Fear, want, privation and suffering will no longer stalk in our land. Faith, happiness, and plenty will hand in hand march happily down the pathway that points to a greater, a nobler and more glorious America. Carry on. California can lead the nation to sound prosperity."

CITIZENSHIP REQUIREMENTS OUTLINED IN RADIO TALK BY PARENT-TEACHER PROGRAM

Speaking on the subject "Citizenship," Mrs. Florence Summers, county chairman of citizenship for the P.T.A., delivered an interesting address over KREG in the first of a series of five programs sponsored by the P.T.A. This is the sixth year the programs have been presented. Mrs. Summers is director of immigrant education at the Huntington Beach high school.

The speaker outlined the work in the county on citizenship educational matters. In Anaheim a class is being conducted at the high school, she pointed out. Santa Ana offers instruction also through the adult education department and Mrs. Summers conducts a class at Huntington Beach. A group of students will be presented for examination by the federal examiner in the superior court here early in June, she said, and another class will be prepared for the December examination.

"Since July 1, 1929, it has been necessary for each prospective citizen to secure a certificate of arrival, proving his lawful entry into this country," the speaker declared. The county clerk will provide the necessary blank forms to be properly filled and mailed to the director of naturalization. A money order of $5 must accompany this, as well as recent photographs.

May Change Name

"The name which is used by the applicant must be the name by which he was known in his native country. Should a change in name be desired it may be made at time of naturalization. Until recently an alien who arrived in the U.S. before 1906 did not need to secure a certificate of arrival but since July 1, 1929, every candidate must secure the certificate regardless of the date of entry."

"Derivative citizenship, where a person has acquired his citizenship through a parent, is sometimes questioned and proof is needed. This is obtainable and the fee for this certificate is $5. Every person born in the United States and subject to its jurisdiction is a citizen. Children of Oriental parents born here are citizens by right of birth. There are, however, certain persons who may never become citizens. These are foreign-born Chinese, Japanese and other Orientals. However, children of these parents may enjoy all the rights and privileges of citizenship."

In pointing out what the qualifications for naturalization are, the speaker stated it was necessary to have resided in the United States for at least five years, in the state and county for at least the last six months; he must have filed his declaration of intention at least 3 years before he applies for his naturalization papers; he must be able to speak, read and write English; he must have read the Constitution of the United States in English and must know the essential facts of our government and history; he must renounce allegiance to his former country and pledge allegiance to the United States government; and good character is also required.

Explains Laws

The speaker gave a list of the questions and answers usually required of applicants for citizenship in this country. She also explained the initiative, the referendum and recall laws of California and several other states. By the use of the initiative system, voters may propose a law may be placed on the ballot to be voted upon directly by the people, she explained. The referendum, she pointed out, comes from petitions signed by voters to keep a law from being in force until the people have voted upon it even if it has been passed by the state legislature. She did not go into details of recall, stating that it was generally understood.

Mrs. Summers requested her radio audience to listen to the program to be broadcast next Saturday night when George Irving Gordon, chairman of the Orange County American Legion citizenship committee will talk on the subject, "Patriotism."

FULLERTON WOMAN ASKS QUIET TITLE

Lottie E. Morse, well known Fullerton woman, has filed a suit in superior court seeking termination of a trust declared on behalf of her son, the late Nathan C. Morse, the late Nathan C. Morse. The suit was filed for the purpose of quieting title to property involved in the trust.

In her complaint Mrs. Morse declares that the trust was ordered September 24, 1931, when she gave her son a grant deed to the property. There was no actual consideration involved in the transfer of this property, she asserts, but the conveyance was mutually intended as a conveyance of trust for certain specified purposes. A declaration of trust, dated September 25, 1931, was a part of the transaction.

According to her complaint her son Nathan, who at the time of creation of the trust was unmarried, never acquired any right, title or interest in or to the property and that all income from the property went to herself alone.

At the time of his death on December 28, 1931, he was married and named his widow as administratrix of his estate.

LINCOLN, Neb.—One item on the expense list of Peru State Teachers College puzzled Deputy State Auditor Parsons. The item was: "Cat meat, $3." ## MORE DELAY ON SIDEWALKS FOR SOUTH SECTION cordance with the agreement and Dudley was instructed to contact the property owners which he did several months ago. He reported back at that time that the owners had said they were without finances due to the fact that two banks in Arizona had failed.

Last night, a week after Dudley was again instructed to see the property owners, he reported that it was four banks in Arizona which had gone broke instead of two and that the property owners now agreed to keep a path clear through the weeds, so the school children would not have to walk in the street, but that they could not put in the paving until "just before the rainy season" started.

DECIDE AGAINST CHANGE OF NAME

A request of property owners on Eucalyptus street, a little street which runs north from Seventeenth to Nineteenth street, asking that the street be renamed Victoria drive, was last night denied by the city council. The street in question has just been surfaced and opens into Nineteenth street just west of Victoria drive.

The matter came up last week and was referred to the street commissioner, A. C. Hasenjaeger, who in his report last night failed to approve the change.

The difference in SAFETY is about 10,000 Miles

ANYONE who gives a little thought to non-skid safety must quickly conclude that there are only two kinds of tire treads.

One has straight, smooth, sled-runner ribs of rubber where the tire contacts the road.

The other has tough, stout, sharp-edged, sure-biting traction blocks in the center of the tread.

Virtually all tires fit the first description—and the one important exception is the Goodyear All-Weather Tread.

It is interesting to note in this connection that more people ride on Goodyear Tires than on any other kind.

THEY must find by experience that center traction makes Goodyear Tires safer—but you might like to ask "how much?"

The answer, as nearly as we can figure is—about 10,000 miles.

Why be satisfied with a second-choice tire when FIRST-choice costs no more!

A new tire with smooth rubber in the center of the tread is no safer than a Goodyear after its tread-center has worn smooth in use.

And judging from average driving experience, Goodyear All-Weather Tread Tires keep their clean-cut center traction—their non-skid safety—for somewhere around the first 10,000 miles.

You can draw your own conclusions, but it looks to us as if this made Goodyears 10,000 miles safer than other tires.

There seem to be several million motorists like yourself who have reached the same conclusion, because Goodyear Tires are first choice by millions.

If you want extra safety in the next tires you buy, just ask yourself one question: Why buy a second-choice tire when first-choice costs no more?

PROGRAM HELD BY MEMBERS OF CLUB SECTION

YOUNG PEOPLE TO GIVE PLAY ON WEDNESDAY

ORANGE, May 17.—Under the direction of Mrs. Christine Lathem, members of the third economic section of the Orange Woman's club presented a program of music and readings yesterday following a 1 o'clock luncheon at the clubhouse. Mrs. H. O. Russell is the president of the section. Never has the clubroom been livelier than when members entered yesterday through an arbor of bougainvillea, the brilliant blossoms of this vine being used on lattice work at the corners of the room.

In the center of the clubroom was a fishpond surrounded by a rock garden and with gold fish darting through the clear water. Garden umbrellas and chairs furnished a summer setting. Tables were especially lovely with flowers of many varieties used in the decorations.

At a brief business session conducted by Mrs. David G. Wetlin, an effort was made to elect a president to succeed Mrs. Clyde Watson, who was elected but who tendered her resignation yesterday. Mrs. Wetlin was re-elected but stated that she could not accept as she expected to move to Santa Ana shortly. It was decided to appoint a new nominating committee.

The resignations of Mrs. T. E. Volberding, Mrs. W. E. Anderson and Mrs. J. A. Campbell as club members were accepted.

The program was opened by violin solos given by George Evans, well known violinist, who was accompanied by Miss Adalaine Proctor. Mrs. Frank Drumm announced a garden party to be given at the home of Mrs. Ray McCormathy on June 2, when bridge will be played. The party is to be sponsored by the second section.

Naum Coster and Norma Hewlett, radio singers, gave a group of numbers which surpassed the expectations of the guests and they responded with several encores. The two are known as the Two Golden Voices. Katherine Merrill, reader, gave a pleasing performance and the Four Syncronettes were four attractive young girls who were presented in musical numbers of a high quality.

Today and Tomorrow

By WALTER LIPPMAN

The Ideal of Representative Government

NEW YORK—The last 10 years have been a period of disillusionment with the working of elected governments. Both in the crisis of the war and in the crisis of the reconstruction the democratic system has seemed again and again to present almost insuperable difficulties to wise and prompt decisions. That has been the universal experience and the behavior of congress during the last few months has added new distrust to the doubts which were already in the air.

The chief complaint against congress, and it is well founded, is that it does not succeed in representing the national interest, that its members are preoccupied with their own special interest in re-election, and that to this end, in the effort to placate, cajole, and even to bribe their constituents they will as a general rule sacrifice every other consideration. Thus it has been plain throughout the debates on the tax bill and on the appropriations that what was moving the individual members was not loyalty to the national interest as a whole but an extreme sensitiveness to the demands and wishes of groups of voters.

Many explanations have been current as to why this demoralization prevails. It has been suggested that the term of office is too short, that a congressman is no sooner seated than he must start preparing for re-election. It has been suggested that the direct primary has shattered party responsibility and made congress a place where each member must shift for himself. It has been pointed out that the custom of selecting congressmen solely from the districts where they live deprives the country of the services of able men.

These are, it seems to me, sound criticisms of our system and no doubt it would be improved if the term of office were longer, if the party system were revived, and if able men could be elected from districts in which they do not necessarily reside. But the trouble is really deeper than these reforms imply. The trouble is that the country has abandoned the conception of representative government and is trying to deal with enormously complex problems through an assembly of mere delegates. The American people have forgotten that if it is to have good government it must elect men, not to perform addends for their constituents, but to use their judgment freely, and freely to speak and act upon that judgment.

The real problem at Washington today was stated with perfect clearness by Edmund Burke some years before the American republic was founded. This is a good time to turn back to Burke, who was one of the wisest men of his century and among the profoundest political thinkers of the tradition which we inherit.

Burke's constituency was the city of Bristol and in 1774 he and Cruger were the two Whig candidates. Cruger had told the voters that if they elected him he would do what they desired. Burke abjured this doctrine and in his speeches plainly told the voters that he would not be their slave. He was anxious to meet their wishes. He would prefer their interest to his own. But his unbiased opinion, his mature judgment, his enlightened conscience (he (your representative) ought not to sacrifice to you, to any man, or to any set of men living. These he does not derive from your pleasure; nor from the law and the Constitution. They are a trust from Providence for the abuse of which he is deeply answerable. Your representative owes you, not his industry alone, but his judgment; and he betrays, instead of serving you, if he sacrifices it to your opinion."

This is the heart of the matter.

EVERY WOMAN
faces this question

"How do I look to other people? If you have a lovely skin, attractive eyes, and plenty of enthusiasm, you need not worry."

So many women, though, risk their beauty by neglect of constipation. It often causes loss of pep, sallow skins, dull eyes, pimples.

Yet constipation can be overcome by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. This cereal provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B which tones the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also supplies iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Special cooking processes make it finer, more palatable. It is not habit-forming.

Surely this is safer than abusing the system with pills and drugs—so often habit-forming.

Two tablespoonsful daily will correct most types of constipation.

If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

At all grocers. In the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

GRAND CENTRAL MARKET

Urge Planting
Healthy Plants

A survey of the strawberry districts in Orange county shows that certain familiar diseases and pests have obtained a foothold here and are rapidly becoming a factor in the production of strawberries, according to Eric Eastman, assistant county farm advisor. The principal root diseases observed are rhizoctonia and verticillium. The verticillium also occurs on tomatoes. It is not considered best to plant strawberries on land that has been in tomatoes or potatoes.

When the berry plants grow vigorously they produce new root growth faster than the disease can destroy it; but when the weather continues cool, as in the present year, and berry growth is consequently restricted, the disease progresses faster than the new growth and the plants become too weak to produce fruit, and frequently die out. The planting of healthy plants on land free from the disease is the best practice at the present time.

THE GREAT CARTWRIGHT

Three days after, the track and field brotherhood still toasts Santa Ana's Ray Cartwright, high school boy who Saturday ran a half-mile in the blistering time of 1 minute, 56.6 seconds, only 1.6 seconds behind the world's interscholastic record made 20 years ago by Ted Meredith.

Written Maxwell Stiles of The Examiner:

"The boy who caught my fancy most was a lad named Cartwright from Santa Ana, who ran a half-mile in 1:56.6, miraculous time. The boy knew form and just when and how to put on a terrific sprint for the finish post. That boy is a credit to his high school coach, for he belongs in the constellation of Ted Meredith and 'Alan Helfrich, Elmer Boyd and Frank Wykoff, Lee Barnes and others of high school years who have done marvelous things in days that are past."

So step right up, Messrs. Clyde Patten, "Chuck" Webber and "Red" Guyer, and make your curtsey.

Cartwright himself has little to say about last week's performance. He is more concerned at present about the state meet at Modesto Saturday when he again faces the best 880 men of Southern California as well as Cross of Modesto and one or two other Northern runners who can step close to 2-flat.

Cartwright is no shrinking violet. No real runner can have an inferiority complex. He isn't too chesty either. He just has the right amount of self-confidence, and a whale of a lot of determination.

"I felt plenty good last week and I had a lot of racing luck," he said. "I drew a good front line position, had my own way on the turns, and was lucky enough to have a couple of good front-runners out there setting a fast pace. When I boomed into the straightaway I knew I had the race in the bag so I just cut loose and let 'er go. Frankly, I didn't think I was running that fast. In fact I didn't know I could."

Cartwright is a senior at HI, and at 24 about a year older than the average graduate. Possibly that accounts for the amazing strength and stamina concentrated in his trim, slim frame.

He isn't sure where he'll go to college but rather leans toward University of Southern California.

"My grades aren't so hot though," Cartwright added. "And I may have to go somewhere and make up for the time I lost foolin' around when I was a sophomore and didn't know any better."

BOXING WAR HERE

They say prosperity ruins as many men as poverty, and maybe they mean boxing promoters.

At any rate, rumblings of a rift between the big fellows of Delhi's Orange County Athletic club are unmistakable, although the club has been doing right well for several weeks and is said to have cleared approximately $150 on its last show. The month's profit may have hit close to $300.

Elmer Willson of Los Angeles is the nominal promoter but he has limited his activity in the past to a single evening's attendance at the arena each week, letting his right bower and Santa Ana representative, Matchmaker Kid Mexico (Todd Faulkner) do the "fronting" for him.

It appears that the boys get along better in poverty than in peace and plenty.

With both parties noncommittal, facts are hard to assemble but this is said to be the situation:

Matchmaker Kid Mexico, in whose fertile brain was first born the idea of amateur boxing, is said to have asked and been refused an increased stipend when the club began to pay dividends. Mexico said he had been getting nothing but bean money for his services, which was satisfactory until pay dirt was hit.

Indignant, the matchmaker appealed to A.A.U. officials for a ruling. The operating license, the state bonds and other things are in Mexico's name, and he wants Willson declared "out" of the venture altogether, it is understood.

"It can't go on this way," Mexico is reported to have declared, as he abandoned plans for this week's show.

Trouble over money matters is the last thing I expected from Promoter Willson. He is reputed to be a man of wealth. How well I remember his classic statement when he prepared to introduce amateur boxing here:

"I am not essentially interested in the financial end of the thing. Primarily, I should like to develop talent for the forthcoming Olympic Games."

POOR MR. PETERKIN

The exigencies of presiding over a league of night baseball teams, each intensely jealous of the other, are not what I should call contributory factors to longevity.

Frankly, I envy not the cares of George Washington Peterkin, young, able but sensitive president of the National Night League.

A year ago, Anaheim openly accused Peterkin of being a "Santa Ana president" and the tool of that club.

Now the situation is reversed, and we find Santa Ana rating Peterkin as an "Anaheim president" and reportedly assembling its big guns to shell him out of office when his term expires this year.

Three things are said to have altered the political fidelity.

First came Peterkin's asserted

S. A. May Be Scene Of Big Jaycee Game

Santa Ana and Los Angeles junior colleges, respective winners of the Eastern and Western baseball conferences, may meet at Poly field here Saturday for the Southern California championship.

That they will play on Saturday instead of the revamped date of May 28 was learned last night when Coach Clyde Cook of the Dons communicated with Athletic Commissioner H. E. Wilson at Riverside. Although the Western schedule does not end until Saturday, Los Angeles draws a bye as Commissioner Wilson ruled that the game be played this week.

The Stars traded Morrill to Westminster for Ira DeBusk, an improving young fast-ball gunner, and the original scheme was to pair the principals of the transaction, but Manager George Lackaye of Santa Ana vetoed the proposal today because DeBusk has not yet fully recovered from a severe attack of tonsillitis. So Joe Cornelius, Santa Ana's ace, who has an unfinished run of 24 scoreless innings behind him, will be Lackaye's nominee. DeBusk probably will work against Long Beach here Friday.

Westminster Undefeated

Westminster brings to the Bowl an undefeated ball club, tied with Santa Ana and Whittier for first place with two victories in as many starts. Frank Penhall's Flyers electrified the circuit a week ago with a dramatic 6-5 win over the powerful Anaheim Valencia, and proved it was no fluke last Friday by shutting out Long Beach, 5-0.

Morrill's experience, confidence, poise and knowledge of hitters helped the club over the rough spots in both these games. The Earl has a real hill to scale to

SCHUCHARD LOST?

Unless Santa Ana can produce a job for Orville Schuchard before Friday, the Stars probably will lose the services of night baseball's premier outfielder, recently traded to the local club.

While technically the property of the Santa Ana team, President George Peterkin of the National Night league says he does not recognize trades and that Schuchard is a free agent until he signs a contract.

Both Anaheim and Olive are prepared to put Schuchard to work at once, it is understood. Unless something turns up here in the next few days, the crack outfielder will be in Anaheim's lineup Friday, it is said.

night as the Stars have been playing midseason ball for several weeks, but if he has control of his slow dropball and that side-arm fast one he'll give Santa Ana an interesting evening. The Earl has what the Stars most hate—a change of pace, simply poison to the free-swinging champion.

The Westminster lineup has been slightly revamped since Penhall's men were last here. Joe Hosack, a Garden Grove kid who broke into the league with a home run on the first pitch served him, and Sautsby have been vying for the catcher's assignment. Coy Rogers and Frank McGuire are contending for first base, with Hunter at second, Cecil Sowers third and "Hack" Wilson shortstop. "Butch" Burns, Bill Gardner and Boyd Davis are the outfielders.

Stars Stand Pat

Manager Lackaye intimated he would start the same Santa Anans who blanked Torrance and Huntington Beach. Cornelius and Willcox will form the battery, with Daley, Preble, Scott and Hill around the horn and Nelson, Ballard and Merrill out in the tall weeds.

Other league games tonight also bear interesting possibilities.

The wobbling Anaheim Valencia, still seeking their first win, go to Torrance where they'll find no support in the circuit's "baby members."

Huntington Beach, always trouble to the Packers, invades Olive. Howard Morning beat Olive four times in 1931.

WALKER WOULD FACE MAX-JACK SURVIVOR

NEW YORK, May 17.—(UP)—Brilliant pitching has boosted the New York Yankees into the zone of all-time baseball records, and this, coupled with excellent hitting, has planted the Yanks on top of the American league.

The McCarthymen are said to have signed a later agreement with Walker, six months before his proposed bout, providing that Walker then retains his current status as a heavyweight title contender.

CINCY RIOT IS PLEASING NOTE OF DULL YEAR

By HENRY McLEMORE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, May 17.—(UP)—The most pleasing note of the 1932 baseball season to date (and I'm not overlooking that hit the Red Sox made in April) was the glassware shower tendered the Giants by the Cincy fans a day or so ago.

Not that this department, whose motto is "a full dinner pail and uncracked skulls for all," believes in assault and battery, mayhem and manslaughter. But it does believe in gentle riots that will restore baseball, a pretty mechanical thing in these days of Alphonse and Gaston players, cultured umpires and Lord Fauntleroy customers, to its former rugged and virile state.

Both Anaheim and Olive are prepared to put Schuchard to work at once, it is understood. Unless something turns up here in the next few days, the crack outfielder will be in Anaheim's lineup Friday, it is said.

night as the Stars have been playing midseason ball for several weeks, but if he has control of his slow dropball and that side-arm fast one he'll give Santa Ana an interesting evening. The Earl has what the Stars most hate—a change of pace, simply poison to the free-swinging champion.

The fact that there were enough paying patrons in the Cincinnati stands to make a riot possible more than justifies the disturbance.

The attendance last year was so poor if a chap wanted to stage a demonstration he had to shadow box with himself.

Cincinnati citizens still speak of the day a set of Siamese twins came to the game and the doorman hung out the S. O. sign.

What a change this year. There were more than 24,000 persons on hand to razz the Giants. Such a crowd is a pretty swell testimony to the business acumen and courage of President Sidney Well who, despite all talk of hard times, went out and spent money right and left, as the boys say. The poorest club in the league, Cincinnati didn't hesitate to relieve Brooklyn and St. Louis of their big salaries paid Herman and Hafey.

One thing about the riot puzzled us. Dispatches said Herman ran out in front of the stands yelling, "Play fair, fellows! Play fair!"

Just what did Babe mean? Did he mean that the fans should not concentrate their fire on one or two players but scatter it among the enemy with a sterling impartiality? Did he mean the marksmen should stick to straight balls, and not resort to curves?

Detroit reports that complete accord has been reached between Mayor Murphy, Councilman Smith and Councilman Lodge. The reason is baseball.

It is a very critical person who criticizes Cincy customers for their temper. The fact they have any enthusiasm left after the team's Cincinnati has put on the field the last few years, is a tribute to their patience and loyalty. Now that Brother Howley has at last put together a machine that seems headed somewhere, it is only natural that the Rhinelander's joy should know no bounds. I say let them shout and stomp and fight and rave and scream and scrap. As long as their aim is poor, what's the harm?

236 KIDS Get Season Pass To See Stars

Santa Ana will have a real rooting section at the Stars' next baseball games in the Bowl this summer.

Manager George Lackaye issued 236 passes to members of the new "Knothole Gang" Saturday, and will be at the Bowl again tomorrow, from 2 to 5 p. m., to accommodate those who were unable to get there the first time.

A ticket good for all games Santa Ana plays at home this season will be issued to all boys and girls 14 years or under. A lad of 4 was the youngest issued a pass Saturday.

ARCHER LABELS LEAGUE TENNIS SYSTEM FARCE

Labeling current tennis methods in the Coast Preparatory league as "farce" because of illegal shifting of players, Coach L. W. Archer of Santa Ana H. I. will enter an appeal through G. A. ("Tex" Oliver, head of the physical education department, to have the rule of 1929, which prohibits changes in ranking, enforced next year.

Virtually every team in the league has violated the important ruling, Archer claims, and as a result, "tennis has become a game between coaches instead of players." The court sport should be won through skill, but ability has been sidetracked this season by various coaches studying results of league contests and revamping their players to best suit their next match, Archer complained.

The attempt on the part of the coaches to outguess one another has led to unequal pairing in certain matches, the coach continued. "A low ranking man has been pitted against the No. 1 player of the other team, and the No. 1 player of the revamped team has gone up against a No. 2 man, the No. 2 up against a No. 3, the No. 3 up against No. 4, etc. In this way, the revamped team has sacrificed the first singles match to win a lion's share of its other matches. This is not tennis."

The Churchmen piled up eight runs in the first two innings, and though the Bankers finished fast they were unable to catch up. The Bankers fielded loosely behind Pitcher Gene Hitt, making six errors in the first two innings. Smith of the M. E. Souths and Lutz of the First Nationals both had a perfect night at bat—four for four.

The Elks got off in front, too, and their four-run lead was just what they had to do to hold off the Holy Name society, which bunched four of its six hits in

H. B. Council Signs Drilling Lease On Tidelands

SIXTH ROYALTY AND BONUS WILL BE GIVEN CITY

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 17.—The city council, by a vote of four to one, yesterday afternoon made a lease on the tidelands between Seventeenth street and the west city limits with the Pacific Exploration company, whose address is given in the lease as 2428 East Twenty-eighth street, Vernon. The lease was made as one of the last matters to come before the lengthy council session yesterday.

The lease is signed by Mayor Elton G. Conrad and City Clerk C. R. Furr, on behalf of the city, and Roy Maggart, vice president, and Allen Miller, secretary of the Pacific Exploration company. The lease is conditional on the voters of the state adopting the constitutional amendment granting the tide lands.

The lease provides for a one-sixth royalty to the city and $100,000 bonus to be paid out of 20 per cent of the oil until the entire $100,000 is paid. The company agrees to drill to a depth of 10,000 feet if necessary and to put down 15 wells on the lease. Drilling is to start within 90 days after the tidelands are granted to the city and will comply with the state requirements for tideland drilling, as those requirements are not applied on other tideland leases along the California coast.

The lease also carries an option to lease the tidelands from Tenth to Seventeenth streets if the city or any other territory. The usual forfeiture clauses are embodied in the lease and the city has the right to take the royalty in money or in oil.

Councilman E. B. Stevens criticized the method of paying the $100,000 bonus. He suggested that the bonus be paid in cash. His suggestion passed without comment. He also said the majority of the people were opposed to tideland drilling, but if it was proven that a majority were in favor of tideland drilling, he would be guided by the will of the people.

It was announced by Mayor Conrad that the company taking the lease would pay all expenses incurred in obtaining the tideland grant, including the circulation of petitions asking that the matter be submitted to a vote at the November general election.

Councilman John H. Marion made the motion to execute the lease and it was seconded by Councilman Chris H. King. Conrad, King and Marion voted for the lease. Stevens voted against it.

Hold Discussion On Finance Plan

WESTMINSTER, May 17.—A meeting of the congregation of the Westminster Presbyterian church was held Sunday following the morning church service to discuss financial matters. The trustees of the church, M. J. P. Hell, R. E. Larter, Barker B. Brown, Ned Clinton and Francis Penhall, were appointed a committee to attend to details connected with the new financial plan advanced. A statement of the present financial standing of the church was given by the church treasurer, H. B. Anderson.

The pastor, the Rev. J. G. Carter, leaves Friday for the Presbyterian annual assembly in Denver, where he goes as a delegate. The Rev. and Mrs. Carter and small daughter will drive to Colorado and will spend about six months' vacation follows the two weeks in Colorado as their weeks allowed him to attend assembly.

Start Work Soon On Two Beach Wells

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 17.—Ben Munn is planning to drill two wells to the shallow zone in the town lot oil field, according to announcements made here. Permits to drill have been obtained from the state mining bureau.

The wells will be drilled on or near Scadia avenue and between Eighteenth and Twenty-first streets, on lots already leased to Munn and his associates.

Another drilling project in the town lot zone is being started by H. M. Hill and associates, who are Long Beach operators.

Standard Oil has started drilling on two locations on the Murphy-Coyote lease in the northeast section of Orange county. While these wells are many miles from the Huntington Beach field, they are important to every Standard Oil company employee, as they mean that the drill crews will be kept employed, and there will be work in other departments in checking the well drilling operations.

COUNCIL VOTES FUND TO HELP BEACH JOBLESS

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 17.—The welfare committee of the unemployed, in a letter to the city council, read at the session yesterday, asked the city to contribute $50 a week toward the purchase of food for families of the unemployed. The council by unanimous vote allowed the chamber of commerce $50 a week, the money to be paid to the welfare committee of the unemployed for a period of four weeks.

The community storehouse was closed Monday morning. But after the council session the doors were opened again and in walked the jobless men on their wives to receive their groceries.

The letter to the city council, signed by Joe Tompkins, chairman, set forth that the funds were exhausted and that the committee had fed 108 families daily since it began functioning several weeks ago, or a total of 718 families, in all 2,374 persons. Vegetables and fruit have been obtained free from the farmers, grocers and other sources, the welfare committee members using their own autos to transport the vegetables and fruit to the community store.

The committee is wholly a committee of the unemployed, with the exception of Willis H. Warner, treasurer, who is proprietor of the Warner Hardware store, and is also treasurer of the welfare committee for the civic bodies, which has not disbanded, but which has turned over its funds, and its work to the committee of the workers.

MEXICAN PROGRAM FOR BREAKFASTERS

An all-Mexican program will be presented to members and guests of the Santa Ana Breakfast club at the regular weekly meeting to be held in Kettner's cafe Thursday morning by pupils of the Fremont school under the direction of Mrs. Edith Ritter, principal of the school. Other Mexican artists will also be presented.

A Mexican orchestra will play a group of selections. Members of the orchestra are David Higuera, Paul Montyano, Manuel Montyano and Eddie Ruiz. A feature of the program will be a puppet show, with the puppets singing several songs. A group of girls will also present vocal selections.

There will be other numbers on the program. All are welcome.

RESOLUTION OF CHAMBER HITS H. B. DRILLING

HUNTINGTON BEACH, May 17.—A resolution opposing the drilling of the tidelands was adopted at a meeting of the chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon. Twelve of those present voted for the resolution, six members voted against it and seven did not vote.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas, certain interests unknown to us have been exceedingly persistent in their efforts to bring about the drilling of the state tidelands within the corporate limits of the city of Huntington Beach;

"And, whereas, the people of the said city are very anxious to secure from the state of California a grant of said tide lands for recreational and such other purposes as have heretofore been recognized and granted by the state to other beach communities of their tidelands, without the right to drill for oil or other hydrocarbon substances;

"And whereas, the honorable governor of the state of California has stated that he will stand ready to assist in such a program, and by the cooperation of all really interested in the future of this city, the state legislature can be induced to pass such a measure;

"And whereas, further, petitions have been circulated throughout this community urging the city council to approve the placing upon the November ballot an initiative measure to amend the constitution of the state of California so as to grant the tidelands to the city of Huntington with the right to drill for oil, and many signatures were obtained to said petitions upon the representations that same did not include the right to drill the tidelands;

"And whereas, the city council of Huntington Beach at its meeting held this 16th day of May, 1932, did by resolution No. 657 approve the starting of an initiative measure to be placed on the November ballot to grant the tidelands to the city of Huntington with the right to drill for oil, and many signatures were obtained to said petitions upon the representations that same did not include the right to drill the tidelands;

INSTITUTION FOR WOMEN TO BE DEDICATED

Buildings for the new California Institution for Women in Kern county, 10 miles from the town of Tehachapi, will be dedicated by Gov. James Ralph Sunday, May 22, at 2 p.m. It was announced today by Mrs. Ernest Wallace, of Alhambra, chairman of the board of trustees.

"The dedication of this institution, to which the public is invited, marks the founding of a new penal institution in this state as an institution whose object is the rehabilitation of its inmates," Mrs. Wallace. The Legislative Act, passed in 1928, which created this institution set forth its purpose in these words, "To provide custody, care, protection, industrial vocational and other training, and reformatory help for the women confined therein." The first inmates will be the women now confined in San Quentin prison.

This institution was long advocated by members of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, members of the California League of Women Voters, of the Women's Christian Temperance Union and other organizations interested in the prevention of delinquency, and students of criminology and penology, and a state commission authorized by the legislature to make a study of the problems connected with the care and reformation of women offenders.

The institution is largely patterned after the Federal Industrial Institution for Women at Alderson, West Virginia; the Massachusetts Reformatory for Women at Framingham; the Minnesota Reformatory for Women at Shakopee, Minnesota; and other institutions of similar character in other progressive states.

Mrs. Wallace, who has been a student of criminology for the last 12 years, in speaking of the new institution said: "We expect this institution not only to be of service to its inmates but of service to the people of California, for we expect it to be one of the most useful and economically administered institutions in the state. Within about five years we expect it to self-sustaining through its agriculture and industries. Time will be used here, not merely served, and when the day comes for the inmate to go out into the world she will be sent forth with the habit of industry and economy and with training in at least one vocation where she can make an honest living."

The board of trustees, which is the governing body of the institution, is composed of Mrs. Wallace, chairman, T. N. Harvey, of Bakersfield, vice-chairman, and Miss Grace Barneberg, of San Luis Obispo. Others who have been officially connected with the founding of the institution are Mrs. John P. Buwald, of Pasadena, of Mrs. Ingram B. Slocum, of San Francisco, Mrs. Everett B. Latham, of Los Angeles, Fred Ahearn, of San Francisco, Judge Leslie R. Hewitt, of Los Angeles, Fred D. Parr, of San Francisco, J. F. Burke, of Santa Ana, and W. Kee Maxwell of Fullerton.

FIRM STAND ON PROHIBITION IS ADVOCATED

Included in the number of resolutions adopted at the forty-ninth annual conference of the Evangelical church, just ended in Anaheim, was one on temperance which, according to those attending, brought forth the approbation of all delegates at the conference.

"The forces of evil grow more bold and arrogant with the passing of the years," the resolution stated. "If such a thing is possible, they have grown more subtle in their methods of attack. While we cannot lay the responsibility for all evil in the world before the door of the liquor traffic, yet it is still one of the major problems before the world today. It is still the hideous, heartless and damnable thing it has always been and as long as it exists, it will always be that.

Action Needed

"The liquor interests still bring bribes and corrupt legislatures, judges and officers, and otherwise good people surrender their rights to good citizenship to this bribe. We, as well as all other churches, must do more than pass resolutions, we must support all organizations having as their objects suppression of the liquor traffic. We must expose the methods of those who are trying, and do mislead some good people. We must teach, preach and organize in all our churches so our children may know the evils of strong drink. We must insist that the laws of the state be enforced."

The Rev. T. W. Ringland, pastor of the Santa Ana United Brethren Church in Christ who is superintendent of the California Conference of the United Brethren church, delivered a message of greeting at the conclave, bringing a message from Bishop Ida D. Warner and the California Conference.

Church Union

A resolution was adopted expressing appreciation and thanks for the interest of the United Brethren church in the Evangelical church and urging that the organic union of the two churches be promoted more zealously. Officials of the Evangelical church were encouraged to continue their efforts to promote and to consummate a union with the United Brethren church.

Other resolutions were adopted pointing out that the church has always made the greatest advances in times of stress; reaffirming the desire for establishment of good will, the reduction of armament, and the consumption of world peace; deplored the terrible moral havoc resulting from the divorce evil; protesting against the insidious tobacco advertising in almost all leading magazines and periodicals and in broadcasting, particularly the false suggestion that it is a growing general tendency for women to smoke; and urging preachers to preach against common neglect and abuse of the Sabbath.

City Council Defers Action On Summer Playgrounds

TAXPAYER AND LEAGUE OPPOSE APPROPRIATION

Support of the city council's previously announced policy of not spending any of the city's money for things this year that could be done without, was given in a letter received by the board last night from the Orange County Civic League, referring to donation of $750 being sought for the maintenance of summer playgrounds at the various schools.

The letter took a strong stand against the proposals and backed up the council against speeches and arguments presented by some 20 persons, representing the Parent-Teachers associations, members of the school board and others at the meeting who came fully "loaded" to convince the council that the matter of keeping some 8000 children at play during the summer months was far better than allowing them to roam the streets.

Finally when all had been heard, it was decided that in view of the fact there was a new member of the board to be taken into consideration, that the matter be deferred for one week.

Represents Taxpayers

Mrs. Roy Corey, who announced that she had been working with the unemployed for the past several months, was the only speaker of the evening against the city donating the money. She stood alone and battled the P.T.A. speakers and the school board single-handed. She announced she represented the taxpayer. "While we have not made a complete canvas, many have asked me to appear here tonight against the proposition," she said.

"We are trying to pare expenses to the bone and we should start with the non-essentials. The working man and the teachers have taken cuts and the taxpayer is now worrying about where he is going to get money to pay his taxes. Of course, $750 does not look like much money in times of plenty, but right now $750 looks like $750," she declared.

"We have an army of unemployed men and the army is growing every day instead of decreasing and there are a great many families here who haven't anything else to do but look after their children," she declared.

Last year the council donated $2000 to keep the playground open. This year $750 is asked, as there is planned a curtailment in the number of playgrounds to be opened, but with the aid of several organizations which have volunteered their services, a splendid program for the summer has been promised, the council was told.

Appropriation Urged

The opening gun of the proponents of the plan was fired by W. Maxwell Burke, member of the school board and chairman of a committee appointed to meet with the council to ask that body to match $750 which the school board has donated to the cause. Burke declared that the playground work was of most importance in that it reached the youth of the city at the time when he was most likely to get into trouble, if allowed to roam the streets. "It gives supervised activity that will furnish the possible outlet the boy needs and will keep down juvenile delinquency," he declared.

Dr. Margaret Baker, another member of the school board declared that eight cities in Southern California were conducting playgrounds this year with money furnished by the city and not by the board of education. Dr. Baker said that as far as unemployment was concerned, that the operation of the playgrounds would be an aid to the unemployed, due to the fact that many mothers would be able to seek work, if they knew their children were being taken care of properly.

M. B. Youel, another member of the school board brought out the point that boys would be unable to find work this summer as had been the case in years gone by and that there would be nothing for them to do but loiter about the streets.

George Wells, president of the school board, in a short talk declared the board looked on the project as one of vital importance and while the school board had made drastic cuts throughout its program, it did not feel that it would be justified in cutting off the playground appropriation entirely, due to the benefits derived. He declared that the $750 donated by the board of education together with the $750 asked of the city, would be ample for an elaborate program here this year.

Other speakers in favor of the donation were: Mrs. N. Visel, Mrs. Guy Belcher, Mrs. Roy Beall, Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth, Robert Speed, Charles Briston, Mrs. Roy Horton.

Suggests Bowl Use

A suggestion by Mayor Paul Wiltner was to the effect that the Olive street bowl be turned into a playground for the summer and that city firemen be used as instructors for the boys. He declared that George Lackney, manager of the Santa Ana All-Stars, would be willing to donate his services in the bowl, as a supervisor.

A. C. Hazenjaeger, council member, pointed out that the tax rate in the city was $1.82 as compared with 2.45 school tax, and that he believed the matter was one that should be taken care of by the board of education.

The text of the letter from the Orange County Civic League, backing up the council's stand against the project was as follows:

League Protest

"The Civic League has in the past protested against the donating of money from the municipal treasury to be spent by others, and again wants to add its voice in opposition to the appropriation of city funds for the summer playground program planned by the board of education.

"We take this stand for many reasons, including the following which we recommend to your consideration.

"First, because our city government should be concerned only with essential service, and has no organization or grounds for public playgrounds.

"Second, because the larger share of every tax dollar goes to the schools, and if playground activities are carried on we feel they should be conducted entirely from school funds and under direct management of the school board.

"Third, because there is a limit

MRS. MERCER
HEADS LEGION
POPPY DRIVE

The appointment of Mrs. Ira Mercer as general chairman of the 1932 memorial poppy sale in Santa Ana has been announced by Mrs. E. F. Mathews, president of the American Legion auxiliary. The sale will be conducted here May 28, the Saturday before Memorial day, which has been designated as "Poppy Day" throughout the country.

Mrs. Mercer will be aided in planning and conducting the poppy sale by a committee of prominent Auxiliary women. A number of other committees will be appointed soon to conduct special activities in connection with the sale. Because of the increased need for relief work among disabled veterans and their families which the poppy sale makes possible, the Auxiliary is planning to extend great efforts to make the sale this year larger than ever before.

"The Auxiliary is very fortunate to secure a woman of the experience and ability of Roberta Mercer to lead its poppy sale activities this year," Mrs. Mathews said. "The sale is one of the largest Auxiliary projects of the year and on its success hinges the success of the extensive welfare program which the Auxiliary carries out for the needy families of veterans. All the women who take part in the sale work are unpaid volunteers. The veterans who make the poppies receive 3 cents for each flower and the balance of the money received is all expended in the Auxiliary rehabilitation and welfare activities."

set by law to the tax rate of this municipality, and in the interest of taxpayers, the city trustees must spend with extreme caution, in order not to endanger essential municipal services.

"Fourth, the city has already spent nearly $20,000 this year, as an unemployment program, for the municipal bowl and if a municipal playground is to be established, the bowl offers the most feasible location for such an enterprise.

"Fifth, because divided expenditures mean divided responsibility, and because in the matter of playgrounds we feel it to be the sole responsibility of the school board and the P.T.A. associations and not properly a municipal service. The Santa Ana taxpayers must pay the bill in either case, and we believe the funds should be taken from school taxes alone rather than from the smaller amount collected for municipal purposes.

"The school board could pay the entire cost of the reduced program, and still save $500 over last year's cost, while the city would save $2000 over last year, which means one cent on the city tax rate."

WEEVIL FIGHT

BY ERIC E. EASTMAN
Assistant Farm Advisor

The pepper weevil, which is the greatest obstacle to the successful production of peppers in Southern California, will have little chance to destroy the 1932 crop if the plans of the pepper department of the Farm Bureau materialize as expected.

Following the successful cleanup campaign carried out by the growers last winter, the pepper department called a meeting of all growers to observe successful types of dusting machines, so that they could prepare in advance to meet the weevil with a cloud of poison dust when the critical moment arrives. This means that the growers must be prepared to dust effectively the moment the weevils develop.

Effective dusting means covering the entire upper leaf and stem surface of the plant with the poison dust being used. Entire coverage is obtained only when the nozzles are adjusted to the proper height and angle of discharge. These points, as well as the proper dusts to use, were explained to the growers at the recent meeting in Garden Grove.

Evidence at hand indicates that this will likely be another year of heavy aphid infestation. Should this occur, the use of nicotine sulphate is recommended. The best control so far secured where aphids are present in quantity is 10 per cent nicotine sulphate dust combined with a 50 per cent calcium arsenite dust. The more concentrated dust, which is commonly used, 75 per cent to 85 per cent calcium arsenite, makes too heavy a dust when the nicotine sulphate dust is added to it. In order to get the same coverage, seven to eight pounds of the mixture is used for each application, whereas five to seven pounds of the full strength 75 per cent calcium arsenite dust is sufficient for an acre of young peppers; and eight to 10 pounds for mature plants. From three to five applications, made five to seven days apart, is the usual range with the degree of infestation expected this year. All growers are urged to see that

Mrs. Marymee Hostess
At Birthday Affair

The eleventh birthday anniversary of Little Miss Dixie Lee Higday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Higday of 527 North McCay street, prompted a gay celebration in her honor, planned by Mrs. W. A. Maymee, and given in the latter's home, Friday night.

Mrs. Maymee had decorated entirely in pink and white, as befitting an eleven-year-old honoree, and flowers in the living room matched in coloring those which decked the table where guests found places for the birthday feast. A cake, frosted in white and trimmed in pink, was placed before the young guest of honor at the close of the meal, as a special tribute. Pink candies further emphasized the color scheme as carried out in table adornments.

After dinner the honoree was showered with many pretty birthday gifts and guests spent the remainder of the evening "listening in" on the children's program over the radio.

Present for the birthday dinner were Miss Dixie Lee Higday and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Higday; Mrs. W. A. Maymee and her daughter, Jean.

marriage to Ted Faulkner is to be an event of this summer, was honored guest at a charming kitchen shower given recently when Mrs.
Ernest Miller and Mrs. Le Roy Hostetler entertained in the latter's home, 2002 South Van Ness avenue.As Miss Hagthrop has chosen yellow and green for her future kitchen appointments, decorations for the party were carried out in that color combination. Representative of the man in the moon was the large golden moon which decked the table, providing a setting for a miniature bride and bridegroom standing beneath an arch. A profusion of yellow flowers added to the decorative effect.Early in the evening, guests contributed advice on activities in the kitchen. A session of hearts followed. With the checking of scores it was announced today, "Dahlias" will be the program topic, with Mrs. Clyde Bach and Miss Mary Thompson in charge. A full attendance is desired.With Miss Hagthrop acting as the bride, a mock wedding ceremony was performed. Miss Fae Parsons took the part of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Helen Miller read the ceremony. A reception followed, and Miss Hagthrop was led to a clever flower figure, whose slicker, umbrella and other wet-weather clothing concealed the kitchen gifts.Concluding the affair, a delicious meal was served at small tables appointed in yellow and green. The

All of a sudden Coppy turned and then the carpet beater learned that there were clever little tricks it didn't know about.

"Boo! Coppy shouted. "Here I go!" And then he tackled, straight and low. This threw the beater to the ground and made the Tiniest shout.

"Now, bring it back," cried old man play. "You lads can lend a hand today. I have a lot of carpets that are hanging on my line."

"I hope that you all realize that what you need is exercise. So you can beat my rugs for me. I think that will be fine."

The beater cried, "It is not fair to swing me right out through the air and land me on a carpet. Maybe it will break my back."

"Oh, no, it won't," cried old man play. "You're going to get well spanked today. The Tiniymites are strong enough to make you soundly whack!"

Then Scouty said, "We all are glad to pay you for the fun we've

Good and Bad Reasons for Our Freak Weather

Ready to find out what the wind is doing miles above the ground . . . a government expert seeking information of the type that may help explain the prolonged spells of hot weather.

By J. W. YOUNG

THE drama of one of the greatest mysteries of the world is being enacted. Its stage is the entire United States. This play has been going on now for 11 years and no one knows when it will end. Its greatest intensity of action so far was reached during the past year, particularly in the winter, so that the end may not be far distant.

The play concerns the mystery of the strange behavior of the weather which has brought the United States the longest hot period in the history of U. S. Weather Bureau records.

This period has been much longer and hotter than any other group of warm years, average annual temperature records for the whole country show. Its last year was the hottest in the history of the Weather Bureau—1931; it opened with the next hottest—1921; and includes a strong contender for third place among the warmest years on record in this country—1925.

"Eight of the 11 years were definitely above normal and three of these were extremely warm," J. B. Kincer of the U. S. Weather Bureau summarizes. "Only two of the 11 years were below normal, and these were only slightly so."

Mr. Kincer's statistics show that the long period of warmth continued into the winter of 1932 in the greater part of the country. Nearly all places east of the great plains had the warmest winter on record, with average temperatures from nine to ten degrees above normal for December, January and February. But Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain states experienced an unusually cold winter.

NOT even scientists of the Weather Bureau know when the weather will end its freakish behavior. Neither can they explain its causes beyond definitely limited physical conditions of the earth's atmosphere.

But in spite of the fact that scientists who have spent a lifetime studying the weather hesitate to give reasons for its seemingly illogical behavior, laymen step in with surprising courage and lay blame for the abnormally hot weather on such factors as radio, the flight of airplanes and an alleged change in the position of the Gulf Stream.

The Weather Bureau has received a number of letters from apparently serious persons asking us to use our influence to have radio stations stop broadcasting so that their electricity would not heat up the atmosphere," Dr. W. J. Humphreys of the Weather Bureau relates. "This request also reached us often during the drought of 1930, when it was claimed that electricity from radio stations was burning up water vapor in the atmosphere.

"People also ask us to stop airplanes from flying so that normal temperatures will return," he continues. "They say that we did not have such abnormally hot weather before airplanes became as common as they are now."

IT is not even necessary to have a scientist point out that such reasons as these are nonsense. The statements themselves do that; for, while one mail brings the Weather Bureau a letter requesting that radio stations be made to close down so that rain will fall, the next delivery will very likely contain a communication from a person in a locality which has been having wet weather who asks that radio broadcasting be stopped so that rain will cease falling.

Last winter was the hottest in U. S. Weather Bureau history, and here you have the causes

Departure of Mean Temperature From Normal for Winter of 1931-1932

Those who attempt to assign the cause of the hot weather to a change in the position of the Gulf Stream are following a more logical line of reasoning, because ocean currents and the temperature of great bodies of water do have a great influence on the climate of the land.

But the Gulf Stream is not to be blamed for the recent hot weather for two good reasons, according to W. F. McDonald, chief of the division of marine meteorology of the U. S. Weather Bureau.

In the first place, he says, the course of the Gulf Stream has not changed appreciably during the period of hot weather; and secondly, even if its course had changed considerably the climate of the United States would have been only very slightly affected.

No evidence has been received at the Weather Bureau of a change in the course of the Gulf Stream or of currents in the Gulf of Mexico which feed the Gulf Stream. Neither has the U. S. Navy Hydrographic Office made observations which show that these currents have changed course.

Both authorities have reviewed a great many queries based on rumors that ocean currents have deviated to bring unusually warm weather. They point out that these rumors might have arisen from the well-known fact that the limits of ocean currents are not sharply defined.

THE waters of a current may swirl beyond its normal boundary and high temperatures of water may have been registered by some ships in unusual places. Without sufficient study these readings might have been taken to indicate that the stream had changed course, it is said.

But Mr. McDonald has carefully checked observations which prove that the course of the Gulf Stream has not changed even where it has greatest opportunity to deviate from its set route. This locality is the open Atlantic, where no adjacent land confines the course of the current as it does between Key West and Cuba and along the coast of the South Atlantic states.

In addition to this evidence showing the fixity of the Gulf Stream's position, there are temperature records taken near the source of the stream in the Florida Straits. Recent records show but a small change in the temperature of the water there over a period of 12 years, Mr. McDonald says. If there has been any change lately, the water has become slightly cooler, instead of being warmer than normal, he declares.

"ALL along the coast there is a current which flows close to the shore and in the opposite direction to that taken by water of the main current some distance from the shore," Mr. McDonald continues.

"This water is partially replenished by eddies between the main current and the shore, and its rate of replacement is so slow that the temperature of the water in these coastal areas responds to the temperature of the air above.

THE RADIOS AND AIRPLANES ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS WEATHER

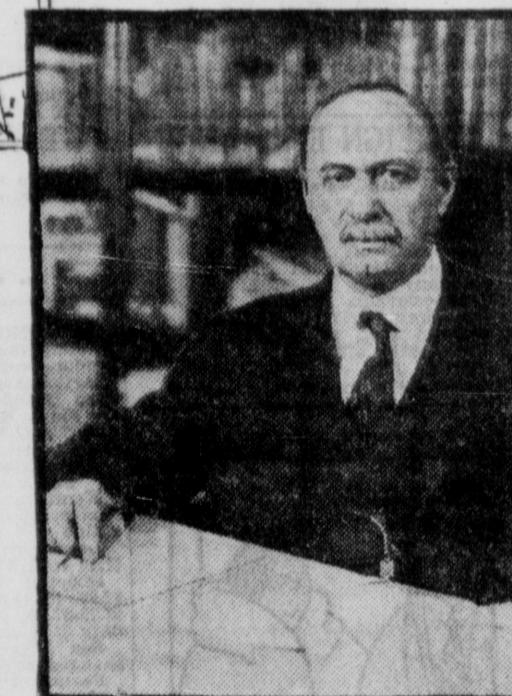

Although scientists hesitate to give reasons for the weather's strange behavior, laymen step in with surprising courage . . . and lay the blame on radios, airplanes and a supposed shift in the course of the gulf stream.

"Thus it may be that water near the coast has actually been heated to a temperature several degrees above normal by the long hot spell over the continent."

This heating of water close to the coast may advance the time of appearance of different kinds of fish. Mr. McDonald carefully points out that these warmer inshore waters appear to be a result and not a cause of the generally hot weather.

"Many people confuse cause and effect," he says. "In this case the whole logic of the situation points to the weather as the cause of slightly warmer coastal water near our eastern shores. During the winter, for example, the water surface was not cooled to its normal temperature because the weather of the eastern half of the United States was extraordinarily mild."

BUT even if the Gulf Stream has altered its course, this change could have but a negligible effect on the weather of the United States, Mr. McDonald declares. He points out that prevailing winds over the United States and the North Atlantic are from west to east, so that the ocean current has more effect on the weather of Europe than on that of the United States.

Additional evidence to show the negligible effects of these currents on the country's weather is given by Mr. Kincer. The states nearest the Gulf Stream, he says, which should receive the greatest effect of the stream if it is the cause of the warm weather, were practically normal, or actually cooler than normal, for the year 1930, and for the entire record-breaking hot year of 1931 average temperatures rose less above normal in these states than in other parts of the country.

For example, temperatures in Florida in 1931 averaged only two-tenths of one degree above normal, while the average temperature in far-away North Dakota and Minnesota was nearly six degrees above.

Thus do scientists set at naught statements that have been foolishly advanced and widely accepted as causes for the great hot spell. Yet when they begin to supply the real reasons, they find themselves facing an endless problem.

Dr. Humphreys, who is an internationally known authority on the physics of the air, begins to explain the abnormal heat by picturing the earth surrounded by its thin film of atmosphere as a steam engine.

"LIKE a steam or heat engine," he says, "the weather must get heat in order to run. Its firebox is the sun, 92,000,000 miles away. Heat from this source being concentrated on the tropical regions of the earth warms the air there."

"This warm, light air is forced up by cooler, heavier air from the poles. It rises and flows north and south to make room for the air from the polar regions which is falling and flowing from the crowns of the earth back to the equator."

"Just as the fire under a steam boiler supplies heat to change water into high pressure steam so that it can do work, so the sun gives our atmosphere heat that enables it to evaporate water from the oceans and carry it hundreds of miles to let it fall on dry land."

"But the operation of the earth steam engine is not nearly so simple as this picture represents it. Its smooth running is upset by a number of influences that do not trouble a mechanical steam engine."

"Because land is unevenly distributed over the earth, because it is easier to heat and easier to cool than water, because jagged mountains break the smooth surface of the globe, because the earth turns on its own axis and revolves around another axis far off in space, and because the fluids on the surface and the very solid matter itself are pulled and warped by varying forces of the moon and the sun, the earth's operation as a simple heat engine becomes greatly involved. Currents of air between the poles and the tropics continually swirl and swirl about, never twice following exactly the same course."

"HENCE meteorologists cannot tell more than a few days in advance how these air currents will vary and thus what weather they will bring. But in spite of all the vagaries of the weather they have learned that there are often approximate paths for air currents and that in general a certain set of conditions will result in a certain kind of weather."

This background makes more readily understandable the chief reason for the recent hot weather, Dr. Humphreys says.

"The most important cause," he continues, "is an unusually large amount of wind from the south bringing warm air to the central and eastern part of the United States and a smaller than normal amount of wind from the north bringing cold air."

"The reason for these changed winds is an unusually large amount of air over the western Atlantic in the latitude of the Bermudas. This is an area of high pressure."

"Most of the time there is a so-called permanent area of high pressure over the Atlantic centering about the Azores, and extending far westward, but during the past two unusually hot years at least it often has extended well over the Bermudas."

MORALITY IS DISCUSSED BY REV. BULGIN

at the long conference table in his office. The subject of the ball team was introduced. "The team was introduced," he said. "Detroit right now is sold like hotcakes. The Tigers has got a case of nerves. If we had not been careful, we would have taken the ball and won it. We are taking care of visitors from children, closing the libraries and interfering with police, fire and health sections."

Monday may be blue Monday with some but it did not seem to affect the crowd that poured into the hall. The weather is still in the revival campaign half night. They were there from many Orange county towns, also Long Beach and Los Angeles.

SAMUEL INSULL

The collapse of the Insull Utility Investment, Inc., and the Corporations Securities Company of Chicago, with a loss to the investors in those stocks of an amount exceeding four hundred million, illustrates perfectly the unsoundness of the financial advice handed out to American investors by such men as Samuel Insull. Insull is the man who was bigger than the United States, the man whose money found its way into the pockets of school teachers, preachers and publishers, in fact into the pockets of all sorts of public men and women, for purposes of influencing their opinions.

These men and women, bought and influenced by money taken from the pockets of the public through high electric rates, induced friends and strangers alike to the new gospel, that if you bought a public utility stock of any nature or description you just couldn't lose. Now if they had bought stock in corporations that produced and sold their own current, the safety of their investment would have been fairly well guarded by state regulation, and their investment would have been good in proportion to the severity of regulation. But the new "gospel" proclaimed the wisdom of buying stock in a holding corporation. The advice was not to put your eggs in one basket. "This holding corporation will have stock in many corporations and it will be safer." But it wasn't. It wasn't as safe, because the officers of the holding companies borrowed money on the stocks they bought in producing companies, and when the value of the stock of the producing company went down, the bankers who loaned Insull and his kind the money to hornswoggle the country, took possession of the stock in producing companies they held as security for their loans and the investor who had faith in Insull's schemes lost what he had.

It seems to us that whenever a corporation finds it necessary to loan money to newspapers, or buy the influence of prominent men, then the investors in it are well warned to desert and sell their stock. For, after the public has been done, they will be next.

Samuel Insull came from England fifty years ago and began in a small way a career which made him a dominant factor in business from the Mississippi to the Rocky mountains. The tentacles of his great organization had begun to reach into New England, where only the fearlessness of a single newspaper prevented the exploitation of all the wonderful power resources of the state of Maine. The publisher of this paper endured all manner of abuse, his newspaper was taboo among the great advertisers, and they all but got him. But today the publisher of the Portland (Me.) News may rightly be called the saviour of the State. So do chickens come home to roost upon unwelcome business and banking houses which were made the tool of this great power company.

Insull is remembered as the man who tried to put Smith into the Senate of the United States from Illinois, and who bamboozled the dry voters to pull his chestnuts out of the fire. He lost out finally in fighting a buccaneering concern of his own type in the form of the Continental Shares company; but unfortunately they dragged down with them millions of honest people who trusted them.

A STARTLING STATEMENT

Commissioner Mulrooney, head of the New York police, a man, by the way, who seems to know his job, made the startling statement at a banquet of men interested in Boys' club work that one out of every ten boys in New York falls sometime into the hands of the police. This is a fearful indictment of our whole children and youth training agencies, or of home conditions and social environment.

No one can doubt that many homes in our great centers of population have entirely broken down, partly because of parental neglect, and partly because of a defective social environment. If, as the Commissioner stated, Boys' clubs have been a great agency in reducing the percentage of arrests among boys, it may account for the great interest shown by men of business and public philanthropy in the Boys' club movement. Surveys have been made in certain districts of Chicago showing the marked decline of delinquency in those districts in which Boys' clubs have been doing efficient work.

The reclamation of human derelicts can never make the contribution to human welfare made by those agencies which save the youth. With such agencies lies the future.

CONSIDER THE TAXPAYER

It is well that the citizens and taxpayers should keep as informed as possible, on the difficulties that tax-making and expenditure-making bodies have to meet, in order to aid such bodies in meeting them.

They can aid them greatly if they will, and can save them much anxiety by exercising self-restraint. We believe there is practically an unanimous agreement that public expenditures must be reduced, and reduced greatly, but groups interested in one phase of activities insist: "Don't cut here," or again: "Make this an exception and give us money for this."

These groups are sincere and honest, but when you add them all together you have a great number of minorities making their influence felt, to break down the determination of the taxing bodies, and unless the members of this public body have strong wills, the savings are not effected. And at this time, such a failure is little less than a catastrophe.

Our public officials who have this responsibility are confronted, as our representatives, with the matter of saving our homes and our property in many instances. Reduction of public expenditure not only will be able to save our property, but will aid the value of property and increase sales.

Only necessities should be placed in our public expenditures, and necessities today have a real meaning as necessities. Ask the Salvation Army, which has fed hundreds of transients, sent to them by the city, and is now trying to collect $500 for this to pay its bills.

We want to suggest to these public bodies that they should remember, when they are confronted with these groups, that the great number of the voters and taxpayers are organized, and are looking to them to exercise their judgment to the highest degree, and protect the public funds. Even those who are most insistent, in the end will be glad when they see the results of rigid economy.

Those who have not had experience in refusing insistent importunes do not know the temptation the officer is under to give up and surrender his judgment to the groups. Let's help him in every way we can.

CONGRATULATIONS

Congratulations are in order on the selection of William Penn as the new member of the Santa Ana city council.

First, to the Second ward on its new representative on the board of trustees; second, to the retiring member of the council, John Knox, who made the recommendation, and the other members for their selection of this fine young man of unquestioned integrity and ability, and third, to "Bill" Penn as he is familiarly known, for his character and past endeavors that have made him the choice for this post.

The new position of public responsibility offers this young man, who is the leader of American Legion activities in Santa Ana, further opportunities for development, and we are sure that he will make the most of them for the service of the entire community.

Japan's Loss

New York Sun

Japan withdraws its forces from the Shanghai area under circumstances from which its Government can derive no satisfaction. Confidently expecting to overcome Chinese resistance without difficulty, its navy attacked. The attack failed, and an army was required to do the task. The defenders were able to shatter the carefully created belief that no Chinese army could stand before a Japanese force; victory was won in the field for Tokyo only at a cost in dollars hard for the treasury to meet and at a cost in impaired prestige among Orientals generally that Japan cannot contemplate without misgiving. Beyond the Orient Japan's acts and words created distrust which will handicap its representatives for years to come. The unanimity of condemnation that has been visited on it is astonishing, and the truculent attitude of Japan does not hide the concern this has caused in Tokyo.

At Shanghai Japan endeavored to administer to the Chinese a lesson that should terrify all the factions of the disorganized republic and thus smooth the path for its projects in Manchuria. It began its operations to punish and coerce a disorderly aggregation of individuals it held in contempt; it ends them by a treaty in which it treats its adversaries as a dignified organization. When Japan's forces landed at Shanghai there was much talk of similar punitive expeditions to other ports; China was to be put in order all along its coast. Nothing now is heard of those excursions. The bantams that will green the Japanese troops returning to their homes will be hearty, but they will not echo loudly in those fragments of the political department which a military Ministry has permitted to survive.

What the effect of the failure at Shanghai will be in Manchuria must trouble thoughtful Japanese. The generals and the admirals may not consider this aspect of the affair.

How to Go to College on $79 a Year

The Fresno Tribune

Collegians who are in the habit of receiving a substantial check from home on the first of each month, and sending out appeals for financial assistance between times must look with amazement on the achievement of one Arnold Samuelson, a student at the University of Minnesota.

Determined to obtain a college education, he started his academic career on a capital of 10 cents and a loan of $200. When the term is finished in June, he expects to have spent a total of $79 and have sufficient left to take care of him during another term.

But the way Samuelson achieves his results would not appeal to many college youths. He cooks his own meals, so they cost him 8 cents each, lives in a fire station, opening and shutting the doors at night when there is a fire alarm, and walks two miles to the college campus to avoid paying transportation costs.

Just how he manages about clothes is not made clear. But one who is willing to cook his own meals and live in a fire house while attending college is not likely to be over-particular concerning his wearing apparel.

There is something refreshing in a determination to go to college even though the apparently necessary where-with-all is lacking.

And probably Samuelson will get more out of his college career than a good many of his more affluent classmates. And he should save the original dime to show his grandchildren when he tells them the story.

More Truth Than Poetry

LOOKING BACKWARD

It was the antiquarian
Who walked among the vales and hills,
A silent, solitary man
Whose spade alone could find him thrills.
His calloused hands inured to toil,
The surface stones aside he cast
And plunged his spade beneath the soil
To learn the story of the past.

And here a niblick came to sight
And there a putter red with rust,
"Aha," cried he, "here waged a fight
Of savages, now turned to dust.
With these strange arms, so rudely wrought,
That here beneath the mould I find,
These prehistoric creatures fought—
How crude was then the human mind."

Anon a long unsightly mound
He spied upon a distant lea;
Approaching it more near he frowned
And wondered how it came to be.
Just earth—plain earth—his spade revealed
What time he deeply spaded it;
No buried forms its depths concealed—
It riled the old man quite a bit.

And then he spoke: "These simple wights
Used these poor mud heaps to protect
Their low-browed warring men in fights—
How mean they were in intellect!
It makes me sick of heart and sad
To think about that simple throng:
They must have been completely mad—
And maybe he was not so wrong!"

NOT SO CRAFTY

And now it develops that even old Uncle Sam has been living beyond his income.

NO HOPE

Now that the National Capitol is being remade, what a pity that the same thing can't be done with Congress.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quiller

Backward regions are those remote districts where the unfortunate natives don't know there is a depression.

There's one consolation. As the results become more evident, you hear less argument about who won the war.

The trouble was, Americans got the notion they could violate economic laws, too.

When machines do all of the work, the next job will be to make one that can panhandle.

YOU CAN ALWAYS TELL A PUBLIC FROM A PRIVATE BUILDING. IN A PRIVATE BUILDING YOU CAN SEE THROUGH THE WINDOWS.

Science isn't so grand. The universal joint, for instance, just copies the way tails are mounted.

When Congress has finished "soaking the rich," it might take a crack at the dodo.

What doth it profit a nation to gain the world's gold if it loses the customers who keep wheels turning?

AMERICANISM: Hiring servants to manage our business; keeping them, despite the mess they make, because they rob our cash drawer to provide us spending money.

You can measure your conceit by your astonishment at the discovery that other people have brains, too.

Nero may have fiddled while Rome burned, but he didn't play peanit politics while his nation lost its markets.

The greatest obstacle man has to overcome in the building of civilization is man.

NORMAL TIMES ARE WHEN A COW PASTURE TEN MILES OUT ISN'T COMPOSED OF CITY LOTS.

You can't expect much else when each little district expects its Congressman to be a go-getter.

But you can't expect the same generation to learn birth control and sex control.

People are giving less to uplift the heathen, which may indicate poverty or a new sense of humility.

Despite all of the high-brow theories, the fact remains that we suffer because we wasted it when we had it.

TOWARDS AGRICULTURAL RECOVERY

Fifth, local governments should be drastically reorganized in the interest of greater adaption to this day of the automobile and of greater efficiency and economy, thus helping clear the way for tax modification in the interest of the land owner and farm operator.

Sixth, the Domestic Allotment Plan should be applied to farm surpluses. There is wide difference of opinion on this point. By allotting to each farmer a certain crop insurance, it is contended that a workable agricultural tariff becomes possible.

Seventh, the decentralization of industry should be pushed as rapidly as may prove technically and economically feasible so that more and more part-time farming may be followed, the other part of the farmer's time being spent in small local industries. This strikes many as a hopeful method for the future absorption of the growing unemployment that is created by the technical advances of this machine age.

It is detailed and specific moves, such as these, rather than fervent rhetoric about the plight of the farmer in the political platforms that the situation demands.

Our Children

LEFT HANDED

If you have a lefthanded child let him alone. He was made that way and if you interfere with him you are more than likely to do great harm. All we see of his condition is a great deal more than that hidden somewhere in his organization and because we cannot see, cannot be certain of the conditions we have to be more than careful not to work mischievous.

Take the lefthanded child to the expert at the children's hospital. Have him tested there and follow the physician's directions to the letter. Should you meet one who tells you that there is nothing to do but just go right along home and train the child to use his right hand, flee from him. He is not the expert for whom you are searching. Find the man who knows about the lefthanded child when you stop.

It is necessary to do this because all lefthanded children are not equipped alike. Some of them can use only their left hands for the ordinary affairs of life for which we use the right hand. Some of them can use both hands. Some of them will suffer speech defects if we attempt to transfer their power from left to right. Some will have eye defects. Some will indicate nervous difficulties. The only safe thing to do with a lefthanded child is to have him consulted by the expert.

There are still some teachers abroad in the land, teachers strongly backed by the authority of parents, who tie the child's left hand behind his back and command him to use the right hand. That is unpardonable ignorance which leads to unforgivable cruelty. Let the child use whatever hand he likes and do nothing about it until you have consulted an expert.

This lefthanded sometimes lies at the bottom reading deficiencies. The nervous system is responsible for all that children have to learn, for they have to do, and if there is anything out of the ordinary in the nervous organization, such as this lefthandedness, all sorts of deficiencies are likely to appear. Among them are the language deficiencies.

We had a child who could not learn to read. He wrote with his right hand and did it very badly. We gave him the usual tests and we used the usual remedies. In spite of all we did he made no progress. Then we took him to the man who knew about lefthandedness and he told us the child was really lefthanded. He had been trained to use his right hand when he was a baby but in reality he was lefthanded as lefthanded as a lefthanded child as ever he had seen. We immediately began training him as a lefthanded child and he went on very well.

Sometimes this is a very slight matter indeed. Sometimes it is very serious. In any case, why
